About

I spent the first part of my childhood in Poland when it was still under Communist rule, before my father was able to move us to South Africa. That is where I spent my formative years and the majority of my education, as well as the first two years of my professional working experience in the clothing industry. After some time, I decided to travel the world, and acquired a CELTA certification, which allowed me to work in Croatia, Sicily, Poland, England, and Scotland.

After two decades of teaching English, I feel ready to return to my first love, the fashion industry. I'm looking forward to learning new skills and working with new people.
