About

Hi, my name is Anna and I've worked as a social media manager since 2018, mostly freelancing. I have grown accounts from zero where they not only have a close-knit bond with community but also great engagement. I have a bachelor's degree in digital marketing, too. I am currently working as an influence manager in a PR company and recently worked as a social media marketing manager for a FinTech company.

I am also a UGC creator which means I create content for brands to post on their social networks. I create different forms of contents such as paid or organic, where the content is specifically designed to either sell or create a community.

I also have experience in sales and customer service as I have worked in retail & sales since 2017.

I have many transferable skills such as organisational skills, time management, researching etc. I also do have hard skills such as video editing, content creation, content curation using Canva, doing market analysis etc.

For social media management, I specialise in TikTok & Instagram and in the GEN Z audience. I am now working on the YouTube side.
