About

I'm a London-based Portuguese design practitioner, and a recent graduate from BA Graphic Design with Creative Computing at UAL Camberwell College of Arts. Most of my work is centred around digital mediums. I'm technically proficient in Adobe Programs, 3D modelling (Cinema 4D) and video production (Premiere Pro and After Effects). I do, however, work with more traditional mediums like analogue photography and screen-printing as well. I also have experience with Arduino, p5.js, HTML and CSS.
Throughout my work, one of the main aspects I try to implement in every project is a sense of playfulness. I enjoy working with projects that allow me to use witty design and reference the ever-growing "internet culture". I also have experience designing marketing and branding content. I love to work collaboratively and always strive to find and create work that is targeted towards the community. I'm looking to secure a long term post graduate role where I can help clients and also grow as a graphic designer.
