About

I am a Hungarian social media manager who intends to work internationally. I have just started, so I don't have much experience. However, I believe everyone has to start at some point, so this is "my point". I am perfectly fluent in English since I was an English major at uni. I always enjoyed spending time on social media, and I realized that I could make a living out of it. I am very passionate about social media, and I firmly believe that despite the negative side of it, the positive side will conquer and win. I want to contribute to making it better by managing individuals' and businesses' social media sites. I can offer social media management services, including content planning, writing captions, hashtag research, marketing strategy, and advertising on Facebook and Instagram. My favorite social media apps are Instagram and TikTok. Besides, I can work with Facebook and LinkedIn as well.
