About

Hi, I'm Maryam!

I am an undergrad student at London College of Fashion, studying Fashion Design and Development. My interest lies in Fashion Design that's paired with Social Enterprise and Social Change because of its ability to bring focus to difficult conversations and introduce spaces that encourage growth and individuality.

As for my future, I intend to work as a Fashion Designer and work with a diverse team that share my ethos and fashion aspiration. I'm currently looking for Design and Production Assistant roles that gives me first-hand experience on how the industry is and strengthen my skills as a designer and a creative. Feel free to contact me: maryamjaama8@gmail.com
