About

Fashion and culture writer with work published on Wallpaper*, ELLE UK, British Vogue and Dazed Digital. I'm deeply passionate about sustainable fashion, from independent labels to ethical supply chains and innovative technologies. With significant experience in both editorial and commercial content writing, I have developed a broad understanding of copy techniques and styles as well as brand tone of voice. I am highly motivated and passionate to develop inspiring and compelling content and storytelling to help brands reach their audience and create a strong community response.
