About

With a profound passion for fashion, I bring a blend of creativity and strategic innovation honed through experiences at renowned fashion houses. As a Trims Developer, I contributed to the unique identity of collections at Lanvin, showcasing my dedication to detail and trend-conscious creativity. My role as a Retail Merchandiser further deepened my understanding of the industry, implementing innovative visual merchandising strategies that elevated sales and customer engagement. Eager to channel my passion for fashion and innovation into dynamic roles that contribute to the industry's ever-evolving landscape
