About

I am a postgraduate student at Northumbria University London, taking MSc Digital Marketing. I am also the social media manager for London Business Society and the website developer for Malaysian Association of Postgraduates and Professionals (MAPP) UK.

I have experience in social media marketing, with experience in content creation and website development. I also have experience in public speaking, proven by my involvement in Toastmasters contests, emceeing, moderating and even broadcasting. I am currently practicing to share my knowledge of digital marketing and connect with like-minded people.
